

Submit your poster abstract today!

Theme

Health research translated into real-world impact with respect to innovations, implementation, and lessons (with a focus on South Asia and similar contexts)

About the Forum

The BMJ Research Forum South Asia 2026 is a premier platform bringing together clinicians, researchers, healthcare professionals, academicians, policymakers, and innovators to advance evidence-based healthcare across South Asia.

As part of the Forum, we invite submissions for the Poster Competition, designed to highlight impactful research, innovations, implementation experiences, and quality improvement initiatives that are driving meaningful change in healthcare.

Process

- Submit your abstract through the online submission portal
- All submissions will undergo an independent peer-review and scoring process
- Shortlisted authors will be notified via email
- Shortlisted authors will present their posters at the BMJ Research Forum South Asia 2026 on 5 September at New Delhi. These will also be published in a BMJ Journal supplement subject to editorial processes
- Selected abstracts may be invited for oral presentations during the conference

Why Submit?

Present your research poster at the BMJ Research Forum South Asia 2026 and showcase your work to leading clinicians, researchers, policymakers, and healthcare leaders.

Earn the opportunity to present on the main conference stage, with selected abstracts shortlisted for the oral presentation competition.

Gain publication recognition, with selected abstracts published in a BMJ Journal supplement, extending the reach and impact of your research.

We are looking for submissions that demonstrate:

- Real-world healthcare impact
- Innovation and implementation
- Quality improvement outcomes
- Research that improves patient care and systems
- Collaboration and translational thinking

Submission deadline:
30th June 2026

Click here to submit

For queries, write to us at marketing.india@bmj.com

Supported by